Reaching Colombia Through The Next Generation

Summer Brings Travel and Transitions

August 2009

Summer is racing by and it has been a busy one! We spent three weeks this summer in Springfield, Missouri – the headquarters for the Assemblies of God – in Missionary Training and Renewal. It was a wonderful time of preparing for the field and getting to know our fellow missionaries. Alex and Maggie completed Missionary Kid Bootcamp, a series of very challenging experiences designed to prepare them for whatever they may encounter in the mission field.

Upon returning from Springfield we closed up the house we'd been renting in Michigan and headed south. We'll be spending the upcoming months traveling throughout Georgia and Florida to continue our fundraising process.

In Colombia, the currency is the Colombian Peso. The value of the dollar against the peso fluctuates frequently throughout the year.

Today, one dollar = 2012 pesos

That means, the 1000 pesos you see here is worth right around 50 cents!

Itineration Update

Our departure date has been set for April 2010. So many congregations have warmly greeted us and blessed us as we visit. It's always exciting to share what God is doing in Colombia. We've been able to speak in several children's churches also! We love hearing the kids' questions and Alex and Maggie have enjoyed sharing what life is like from a missionary kid point-of-view.

Prayer Requests

- We still have a lot to raise in order to return to the field. Please pray for God to open doors for us, especially with monthly support, so that we can get to Colombia quickly.
- We are about to start homeschooling for the first time. Please pray for all of us as we transition into new roles and figure out the best setup to allow Alex and Maggie to continue their education while we travel through itineration.
